

Contents

Contributors to the Volume.....	ix
Introduction
Jorge López Quiroga and Luis Ríos Frutos .....	1
1 Violent Societies and/or Societies Without Violence? Injuries and Violence in the Early Middle Ages from a Bioarchaeological Approach
Jorge López Quiroga .....	5
2 The Osteological Evidence for Execution in Anglo-Saxon England
Alyxandra Mattison, Michelle Williams-Ward, Jo Buckberry, Dawn Hadley and Rachel Holgate .....	37
3 Skeletal Trauma as an Indicator of Directed Interpersonal Violence in Early Medieval Germany Evidence from the Large Merovingian Cemetery of Mannheim-Seckenheim
Christian Meyer and Kurt W. Alt.....	55
4 Violence in Gaul from Late Antiquity to the Early Mediaeval Period
Véronique Gallien and Patrick Périn.....	67
5 The Byzantine “Wound Man” The Bioarchaeology of Trauma in the Sixth to Twelfth Centuries Ad, Greece
Chryssi Bourbou.....	83
6 Injuries, Violence and War in Apulia During Late Antiquity and the Middle Ages
Fabrizia Andriani, Fabio Armenise, Ginevra Anna Panzarino and Sandro Sublimi Saponetti .....	97
7 Traumatic Pathology and Violence Between the 7th and 11th Centuries in the Hermitic Necropolis of Las Gobas (Laño, Treviño, Burgos)
Lourdes Herrasti, Iban Sánchez-Pinto, I. Etxeberria, Agustín Azkárate and Francisco Etxeberria.....	155
8 Violence, Survival or Death The Osteoarchaeological Evidence from Christian and Muslim Contexts in Late Antiquity and Early Medieval Navarre (7th –11th Centuries)
M<sup>a</sup> Paz De Miguel Ibáñez.....	171