

Contents

List of figures	xi
List of tables.....	xxv
Notes to the reader	xxvi
Journal abbreviations and frequent text	xxvii
Abbreviations for institutions and frequent text	xxix
Abstract	xxx
1. Introduction.....	1
2. Khurasan: land of the rising sun	5
2.1. Introduction to medieval Khurasan	5
2.2. Historical background.....	5
2.3. Trade routes in medieval Khurasan	11
2.4. The use of incense in medieval Khurasan	14
2.5. Conclusion	17
3. Some significant metalwork objects of medieval Khurasan	19
3.1. Early metalwork objects of medieval Khurasan	19
3.2. Later metalwork objects of medieval Khurasan	24
3.3. How ZIBs relate to earlier metalwork objects of medieval Khurasan.....	48
3.4. Conclusion	60
4. The physical characteristics of ZIBs	61
4.1. Examination and analysis of the ZIBs	61
4.2. Type One: the hinge opening	64
4.3. Type Two: the bayonet opening	66
4.4. Type Three: the chest drawer opening	66
4.5. Type Four: the underbelly opening	66
4.6. ZIBs' weight-to-height ratio	66
4.7. The ears of ZIBs	71
4.8. The feet of ZIBs.....	73
4.9. The tails of ZIBs	73
4.10. Cheetahs, lynxes, caracals and lions.....	77
4.11. Horses	80
4.12. Conclusion	82
5. Metalwork techniques used in the production of ZIBs and their dating.....	85
5.1. Lost-wax casting	85
5.2. Engraving, chasing and openwork.....	88
5.3. Inlay	90
5.4. Glass enamelling.....	92
5.6. Production dates of ZIBs	93
5.7. Metal assays for dating ZIBs	95
5.8. Using inscriptions to date ZIBs	99
5.9. A chronology for ZIB.....	103
5.10. Conclusion	106
6. Where in medieval Khurasan were ZIBs made?	107
6.1. Gurgan	109
6.2. Nishapur.....	109
6.3. Hulbuk	112
6.4. Ghazni.....	115
6.5. Herat	131

6.6. Taybad.....	145
6.7. Tributes and gift giving.....	151
6.8. Conclusion	153
7. ZIBs and their literary sources	155
7.1. ZIBs	155
7.2. The chimeras in medieval Dar al-Islam	157
7.3. The astrological associations	167
7.4. The significance of farr	170
7.5. Cintamani: the three-dot motif.....	178
7.6. ZIBs and their internal trays	184
7.7. Conclusion	189
8. Incense use in medieval Khurasan	191
8.1. The Turks	193
8.2. Abbasid and Byzantine uses of incense	200
8.3. The Copts.....	202
8.4. The Chinese	202
8.5. Buddhists and Hindus	208
8.6. The lion-warriors: funerary and military rituals	210
8.7. Esfand	216
8.8. Medieval Khurasani ‘men of the sword,’ the lion-warriors.....	216
8.9. Conclusion	220
9. General Conclusion.....	223
The catalogue	227
Appendices.....	303
Bibliography	307